

SYSTEM AND PROCESSES FOR DYNAMIC DOCUMENT CONSTRUCTION

Abstract of Disclosure

The present invention provides the capability for dynamically constructing layouts for documents and generating rendered versions of such documents in a variety of output formats. In a preferred embodiment of the present invention, the system of the present invention provides a specialized application server that enables a user to remotely edit content and layout of documents as well as create new content and layout.

Figures

[illegible]